In this strange region they are caught in the force field of an alien space station . . . a prison "frozen in time" with robot guards and computer judges in command.

The Robinson Family's space odyssey found them encamped on a planet half a galaxie distant from earth when their robot's sensors detected a comet on collision course!

Fleeing into deep space aboard their spaceship, Jupiter 2, they survive the minor problems stirred up by Dr. Smith's "S.O.S. canister," but encounter an exploding Super Nova that drives them into unknown regions never before visited by earthmen.
